

Roadmap

- Why the Gran Chaco?
- What is ViSeC?
- Members
- Governance Structure
- MRV System

Why the Gran Chaco?

It is the second largest region with forest area in South America and 62% of the region belongs to Argentina.

It has a great diversity of environments and is the habitat of numerous native species.

They inhabit more than three thousand communities of farmers belonging to indigenous and creole cultures.

+1 million

km² among
Argentina, Paraguay,
Bolivia and Brazil

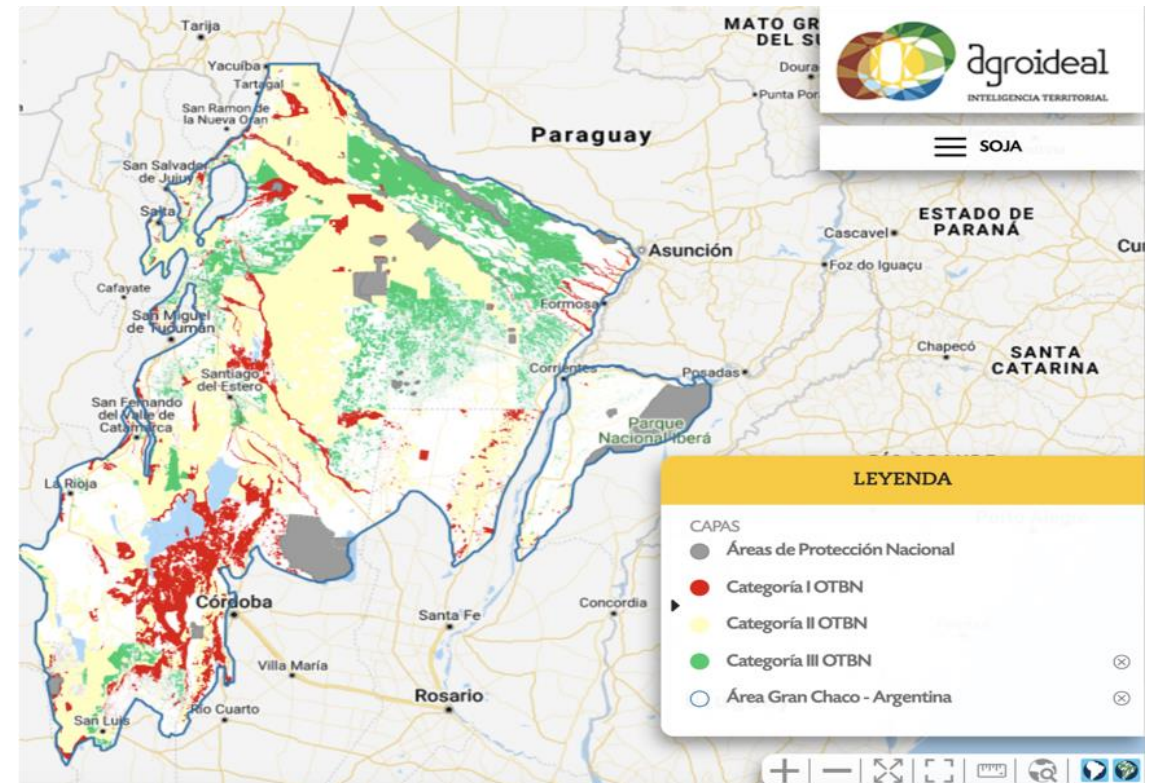

Why the Gran Chaco?

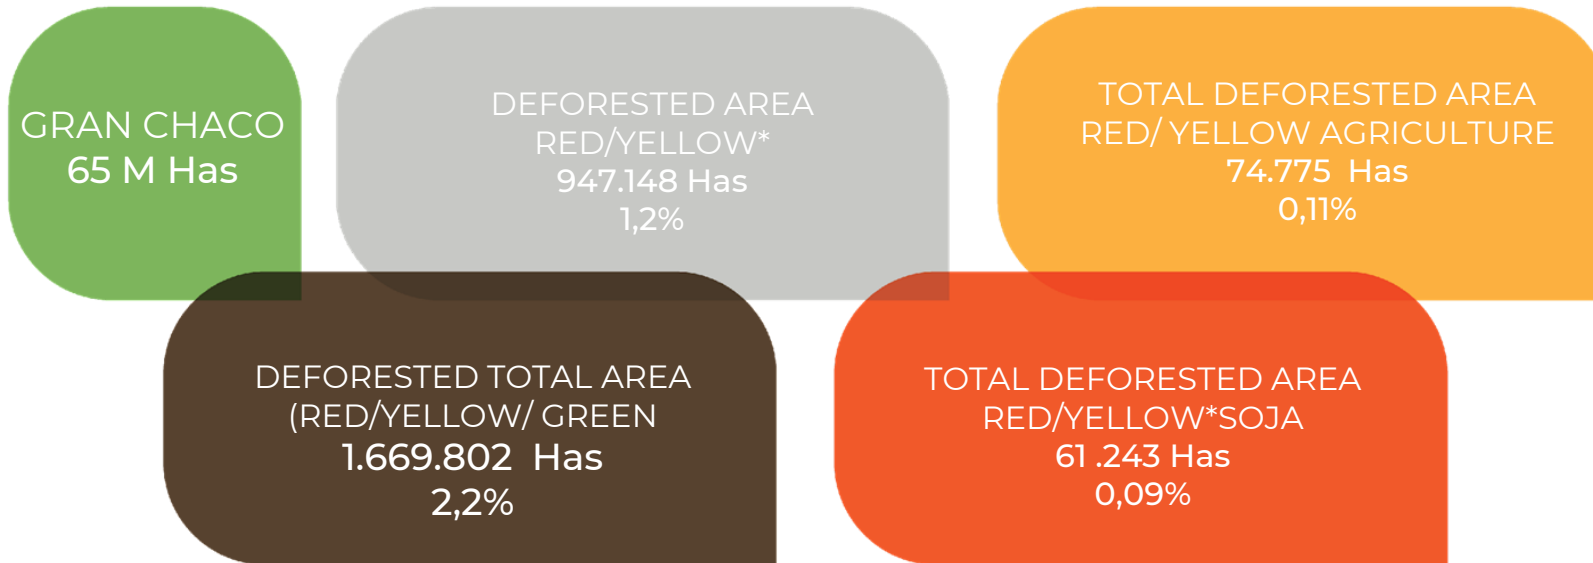

-  Areas of high value. No land conversion is allowed. Areas dedicated for preservation..
-  Areas of medium value. No farming is allowed. Only silvopastoral productions under environmental conditions
-  Areas of low value. Farming is allowed prior authorization

NATIVE FOREST ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION LAW

ARGENTINA, LAW N° 26331/2007

Why the Gran Chaco?

GRAN CHACO REPRESENTS APPROXIMATELY 5% RISK OF DEFORESTATION IN SOYBEAN SALES AND SUB-PRODUCTS

What is ViSeC?

Focus on deforestation and other land use changes

Promotion of soybean sustainability in Argentina

Promote a competitive, socially and environmentally responsible value chain

National Platform to bring together all members of soybean value chain to decrease environmental impacts

Members

Visión Sectorial del
Gran Chaco Argentino

Producer Associations

Exporters

Collectors and Brokers

Processors and Industry

Advisory Committee

Collaborators

Grain Exchanges Boards

Bolsa
de Cereales

Governance Structure

MRV System Flowchart

Monitoring, Reporting and Verification

How the MRV System works?

- ✓ Risk will be mitigated efficiently, and the actors will use the tool to classify their product (soy, initially) and farms as a Deforestation Free/Legal Compliant product/farm.
- ✓ ViSeC will provide documentation to each shipment regarding fulfillment of requirements on free of deforestation within the whole territory of Argentina since 2024/25 agricultural campaign.
- ✓ ViSeC is the response platform for new regulations in the EU, as well as any other market that requests deforestation-free soybeans.

Thank you

contacto@visec.com.ar

DOWNLOAD THE PRESENTATION

